

POEM FROM CSCP YOUNG ADVISOR DURING 2020-21 CORONAVIRUS PANDEMIC LOCKDOWN

HEAD IN THE GAME

I remember going out to meet friends,
I remember being able to do fun things , without worrying about guidelines or curfews.

Life's comes at us fast,
Just yesterday I was playing,
11 a side at Coram's Now I'm separated from humanity at a two metres distance.

I remember going to the cinemas alone
Now everything is closed due to a virus but the real virus is what's happening deep in our minds and soul.

I haven't felt the same since this pandemic
I've managed to stay positive.
Keep my head in the game
But maybe lockdown,
Isn't keeping me in its game.

Maybe I'm crazy, or maybe I'm just being too lazy,
But I've lost myself,
I can't wait till I find myself ,
We will just have to wait and see, what awaits us, at another day.
